Mandatory Credit Management Academic Improvement Programme (MCMAIP) for AICA, MICA & FICA Members

We have received quantum of enquiries expressing concern that, on the job experience and previous graduate qualifications alone, are not strong enough to make someone a proud Credit Professional; given the highly robust, all-encompassing nature of credit management profession which touches every aspect of any nation's economic lives.

The consensus was: NICA should please design, develop and deliver a learning programme for all AICA, MICA and some FICA members of the Institute and ground them academically, making them competitive and at par with their counterparts in other economies in credit management, covering a giving period of time on a part-time basis."

In response to this demand by many of our Institute's members, we are delighted to inform you that you have been considered eligible to participate in the "Mandatory Credit Management Academic Improvement Programme (MCMAIP)" created for the NICA members who entered the membership of the Institute through direct entry.

Direct entry membership of the Institute is based on the job experiential exposure, graduate qualification, and with some degree of professional qualifications.

For this reason, NICA and its sister, Postgraduate School Credit and Financial Management (PSCFM) has reserved a weekend executive class seat for you under the following details:

Business Leaders Laud NICA's Credit Programme for Executives

By Guardian Nigeria
11 April 2024 | 2:50 am

PROF. CHRIS ONALO, FICA
REGISTRAR / CEO
NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF CREDIT ADMINISTRATION

The SIX-MONTH mandatory Credit Management Academic Improvement Programme, popularly known as “MCMAIP,” introduced by the National Institute of Credit Administration (NICA) for those it inducted through direct membership, has been applauded by corporate and business leaders that constitute the current stream 11th executive class.

Business leaders, corporate directors, and enterprise managers expressed profound satisfaction with the novelty of the MCMAIP programme, saying: “This is a programme that makes you feel business is a combination of internationalisation and corporate elitism culture, showing superior governance attitude with behaviour consistent with business management elites.”

The 11th stream executive class, which ostensibly is designed to achieve sound executive grounding in credit management and general business governance, is overwhelmingly adjudged the best of its kind by the class.

According to them, it is what obtains in advanced climes. Prof. Chris Onalo, the driver of MCMAIP programme, the class said, is a formidable, powerful instructor, whose main focus had always been on the well-being of corporate organisations, the people running the organisations, and the economy of the nation.
