For years, people have done general credit management courses. General is now crowded. Specialist is scarce. And what is scarce is what is sought after. These 13 courses are not general. Each one is a specialty in the day-to-day operations of credit management. When you hold one, you are not just a credit manager, you are the specialist in that operation.

Employer-organizations today are not looking for just credit managers. They are looking for a specialist in Corporate and Consumer Credit Administration to lead their enterprise and consumer credit transaction books. They are looking for a specialist in Secured Transactions in Movable Assets to perfect their collateral. They are looking for a specialist in Factoring and Receivables to manage their invoice finance. They are looking for a specialist in Corporate Credit Policy Drafting - the person who writes the policy that controls billions.

That specialist is now you. This is why NICA's Online CreditAcademy Specialist certification programme takes you quicker to the top. Because promotion in the new credit economy management is no longer by years of service, it is by specialty authority. The man with specialty is called to the boardroom. The man without specialty remains in the queue.

On completion, the course will fetch you a new job opportunities because every employer of labour – Multinationals, blue-ship conglomerates, banks, fintechs, insurance, pension, manufacturing, telecoms, oil and gas, government - are now required by the NICA (establishment) Act No. 26 of 2022 to have certified credit management specialists in every credit transaction operation. The jobs are waiting. The specialists are not there. You will be the most sought-after specialist in your chosen area. NICA has created the pathway.

Stop being a generalist in a specialist economy. Pick one operation. Master it. Become specialist in it. And watch the top come to you.
